Why the Herald Will be Independent.

Believing that there is a fine field for independent journalism in this Valley, the proprietor of the HERALD has determined to conduct it as an independent paper. The effort will be to make it a certain process of punishment by law to go a little slow in this matter, now welcome visitor in y home. Articles of interest to the home and family will frequently appear. There is evidently a good future for this beautiful Shenandoah Valley and its development can be hastened by informing the people as to the vast resources which have, for centuries, been lying dormant, while those of other sections have been fully developed and, in some cases, entirely exhausted. Onr mountains, with their yast treasures of less to prevent them. iron, manganeze and other minerals will soon be made to centribute to the wealth and prosperity of the people. Our fertile valleys have not yet contributed their share to the general prosperity.
